'Fast Time' Starts 2 A.M. On Sunday

Railroads, Buses Have Schedules Ready to Operate on Daylight Saving Till Sept. 26

Set your clock ahead one hour before retiring tonight if you would be on time Sunday morning.

Daylight Saving Time goes into effect at 2 a.m. Sunday morning and practically all forms of transportation will be geared to "fast time" for the balance of the summer.

The hour which is lost Sunday will not be made up until Daylight Saving Time ends on September 26 in the fall.

Railroads, which always maintain Eastern Standard Time on railroad timetables, will in many cases be operating on Daylight Saving Time by moving train schedules ahead to meet the new time and in consulting timetables it is wise to check and make allowance for the difference between Standard Time and Daylight Saving Time.

Most bus lines and other forms of transportation publish timetables based on Daylight Saving Time.

Two Train Changes

At the West Shore Railroad a check was made Friday to ascertain the hour of arrival and departure of trains but at the ticket office it was stated "no schedules had arrived." However the "employees" timetables indicate only two changes in train time affecting Kingston.

Train No. 21, Weehawken to Kingston, which operates daily except Sundays will leave Weehawken at 8:35 a.m. and arrive in Kingston at 11:40 a.m. Its arrival in Kingston prior to the change was 12:05. This train turns around at Kingston and runs to Weehawken. There is no change in the leaving time from Kingston for Weehawken, it was stated.

West Shore Train No. 2, running from Albany to Weehawken which has been arriving at 3:50 and departing for New York at 4:05 p.m. will arrive from Albany at 3:25 and depart at 3:40 o'clock, or 25 minutes earlier. Other trains will make no change in time except the one hour to conform to Daylight Saving Time, their arrival and departure time being shown on the timetable at Standard Time which is an hour slower than Daylight Saving Time.

Railroad time will change at 2 a.m. Sunday.

More Bus Trips

At the Adirondack Transit bus terminal at Broadway and Pine Grove avenue, it was said there would be several additions to the schedule. The bus company will operate on Daylight Saving Time but will add several additional trips when they place their spring

Exams for State War Scholarships Scheduled June 14

Director Howard C. Shurter of the local Veterans Service Agency announced today that applications for the 1954 State War Service Scholarships for veterans are available at his office and that the examination for this series of scholarships will be held throughout the state Monday, June 14.

Shurter said that these scholarships entitles the veteran to such tuition and fees for full or part-time study day or evening, at any college, university, business, private, vocational, technical or trade school selected by him which he is qualified to enter and which is located in New York state and approved by the State Board of Regents in the amount of $350 a year for four years.

1,200 Are Available

Twelve hundred scholarships of the 1954 series are available for distribution to veterans of the armed forces of the United States who have served in World War I or World War II or between June 24, 1950, and July 1, 1955, who meet the qualifications and succeed in the competitive examination which will be set to determine the winners.

Director Shurter said that in order to qualify, veterans must have been legal residents of New York state when inducted into the armed forces, must now be legal residents of New York state and must hold a discharge from the armed forces that is not other than honorable.

Shurter said that complete applications must be returned to the Education Department in Albany by May 26, and urged veterans interested in these scholarships to visit him at 32 Main street, Kingston, for complete advice, information and assistance in making out their applications.

The children have been in the custody of a governess in White Plains. Yasmine is the daughter of Aly Khan and Rebecca, the daughter of actor Orson Welles, Rita's former husband. (AP Wirephoto).

Free Catskill Bridge Called Harmful to Building Spans

State Authority Is Seeking Congressional Action to Continue Tolls After July 2, 1955

Should tolls cease on the Rip Van Winkle bridge at Catskill it could jeopardize financing of the proposed Kingston-Rhinebeck and Beacon-Newburgh bridges, the New York State Bridge Authority said today.

The authority statement followed announcement by United States Senator Herbert H. Lehman that a congressional enactment

"would be required before the bridge authority could continue to charge tolls on the bridge joining Catskill and Hudson after July 2, 1955."

The Lehman remarks were contained in a letter to State Democratic Committee Chairman Richard H. Balch.

At the same time the Russians recalled Ambassador Nikolai E. Generalov from Australia and announced the embassy there would be closed.

In Canberra, the big Soviet Embassy staff was busy today burning documents and books in a huge bonfire in its fenced-in yard. There was no indication exactly when the Russians would leave Australia.

In addition to repealing the Soviet demand for the arrest of Petrov on charges of swindling and embezzling Russian Embassy funds, the note accused the Australian Government of kidnapping Mrs. Petrov, who the Australians say was granted political asylum with her husband.

Two Reunited

Australia already had rejected the demand for the return of Petrov when it was made earlier by Generalov, and kept him in a secret hiding place. Mrs. Petrov was reunited with him after a tumultuous incident in which she was taken from a plane at Darwin just as she was about to depart with Soviet agents for Moscow.

Moscow radio's announcement of the note was the first the Soviet public had been told of the Petrov case.

16 Are Nominated For Offices With Community Chest

As announced, seven directors-at-large of the Kingston Area Community Chest will be elected Monday night, should the proposed by-laws be adopted at the public meeting.

The meeting will be held in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel, at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

The nominating committee will submit the following list of 16 names of nominees for the office of directors-at-large, listed alphabetically: L. V. Bogert, J. Ellis Janssen Fowler, Edward K. ## Ex-Housing Head Denies Lack of Concern by FHA

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Guy T. O. Hollyday, recently ousted as federal housing commissioner, has taken issue with a top Justice Department official's charge that FHA felt no responsibility for protecting home owners from preying repair salesmen.

Hollyday told the Senate Banking Committee yesterday that FHA was "greatly concerned" over the welfare of home owners who use government-insured loans to repair their houses.

Warren Olney III, an assistant attorney general in charge of criminal prosecutions, had testified earlier in the day that FHA did not regard itself as a public service agency and that its officials "frequently described themselves as being in partnership with lenders and promoters."

Furthermore, said Olney, "they think they have no responsibility for victims of these swindles . . . that they can wash their hands of all the responsibilities as long as the government's financial liability is protected."

Hollyday's White House requested resignation nearly two weeks ago was accompanied by allegations of widespread irregularities in the FHA's program of insuring loans for home repair and charges that some apartment house builders pocketed many millions of dollars by obtaining government-guaranteed loans bigger than their construction costs.

Hollyday himself was not accused of wrongdoing, but rather of failing to act vigorously enough against the reported abuses.

A shakeup in FHA's top echelon, which began with Hollyday's departure after a year in office,

Reds Break Ties With Australia

Embassy Staff Ordered to Quit Moscow Fast Over Refusal to Give Up Fugitive Envoy

Moscow, April 24 (AP)—The Soviet Union has severed its diplomatic relations with Australia because of that country's refusal to hand back its fugitive envoy in Canberra, Vladimir Petrov, as an embezzler and swindler.

In a note handed yesterday to Australian Charge d'Affaires Brian Hill in Moscow, the Russians accused the down-under country's government of "large-scale campaign of slander" in its allegations that Petrov fled his post as third secretary in the Soviet Embassy at Canberra and handed over a mass of documents said to have exposed a Communist spy ring.

It demanded that Hill, the top-ranking Australian envoy to the Kremlin, leave with the five-member embassy staff immediately. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko told Hill the Russians wanted the staff moved out in two or three days.

Close Australia Office

At the same time the Russians recalled Ambassador Nikolai E. Generalov from Australia and announced the embassy there would be closed.

In Canberra, the big Soviet Embassy staff was busy today burning documents and books in a huge bonfire in its fenced-in yard. There was no indication exactly when the Russians would leave Australia.

Community Chest Has No Immediate Bearing on Drives

Current Campaigns Needed to Keep Budgets Up

Until New Fund Is Established

If the Kingston Area Community Chest becomes a reality after Monday night's public meeting, what happens to finance campaigns that are underway at the time of the chest's formal birth?

That is a question that has been asked frequently, with particular regard to the $20,000 fund drive just launched by the YMCA.

This question was put today to Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, who has served as temporary secretary of the committee of service club and Junior Chamber representatives that has conducted the preliminary work toward establishing a Kingston Area Community Chest. Here is his answer:

Should Be Supported

"Current campaigns should be supported as usual to enable the organization to complete its fiscal year. Contributors should not be influenced by the possibility of organizing a Chest," he said.

Kurd explained, "Should it be voted to organize a Community Chest on Monday night, a combined drive for funds would be conducted next fall for the calendar year of 1955.

The organizations involved will be asked to submit budgets to the budget committee, which will enable them to operate satisfactorily until the end of 1955. Therefore, part of any organization's financial requirements for 1955 may come from the current campaigns, and part from the united drive."

The money now being sought by the YMCA, for instance, is needed for a fiscal year already begun. The money raised in the current YMCA campaign will be needed whether or not the Community Chest becomes a reality.

Fined on Driving Charge

Granville Quick, 28 Ann street, Kingston, was arrested by Constable Peter Peterson of Rifton Thursday at St. Remon on a charge of reckless driving. Quick was charged with crossing a white line on a bad curve on Route 213 when his car went out of control. Taken before Justice Allan Darbie, a fine of $25 was imposed.

The meeting will be held in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel, at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

Should tolls cease on the Rip Van Winkle bridge at Catskill it could jeopardize financing of the proposed Kingston-Rhinebeck and Beacon-Newburgh bridges, the New York State Bridge Authority said today.

The Lehman remarks were contained in a letter to State Democratic Committee Chairman Richard H. Balch.

Act Is Uncovered

Early last month a state legislative committee, investigating powers of authorities such as the bridge authority, uncovered a Congressional Act adopted in 1930. It requires, essentially, that the Rip Van Winkle bridge be amortized by tolls in a 20-year period, after it was opened to the public. The bridge was to become toll-free, or tolls reduced to a fee large enough to cover maintenance only. The bridge was opened to the public on July 2, 1935.

In view of this jeopardy, the bridge authority has requested Representative J. Ernest Wharton (R-30th Dist.) to introduce into Congress and work for passage of an act to return the jurisdiction of the Rip Van Winkle Bridge and the right to collect tolls to the State Bridge Authority.

Writes to Engineers

On a request from State Democratic Chairman Balch, Senator Lehman said he communicated with the Corps of Engineers to ascertain the degree of federal involvement in the recent controversy over tolls.

"Please criticize the bidding and play of the accompanying hand," requests a Chicago correspondent. "I managed to go down one trick at three no-trump, but think that four hearts would have been a superior contract."

"West opened the four of spades, and I played low from dummy. East put up the queen and returned the suit knocking out dummy's ace. West got in twice with hearts, and was able to defeat the contract with three spades and two hearts.

"It is easy to see that the winning play is to put up the ace of spades from the dummy on the first trick. Is it correct to make this play if you cannot see all of the cards?"

The bidding is slightly ambiguous, but not at all unreasonable. A game contract in hearts would surely fail against an opening spade lead. West would continue spades at every opportunity, and the North hand would either run out of trumps or would have to allow East to ruff a spade trick. The correct play at three no-trump is to put up the ace of spades at the first trick. When a heart is then led, the spade suit is blocked. If West leads a low spade, his partner can win with the queen but must then shift. Obviously, it does West no good to lay down the king of spades in order to drop his partner's queen.

The bidding tells declarer that West has a five-card spade suit and most of the missing high cards. If West has both the king and queen of spades, it will do no good to let the first trick ride around to the South hand.

South must begin the hearts at one, and West can afford to duck if he has only one high heart. East will win if the heart honors are split, and return a spade. West will then be in position to defeat the contract.

The only hope, in fact, is that East has K-X or Q-x of spades. South must put up dummy's ace of spades at the first trick in the hope of blocking the suit if the situation is what he hopes it is.

EASING THE LOAD

The American motorist qualifies for the title of most frequently taxed person in the world. He pays federal excise taxes when he buys a car, pays annual registration and license fees to the state, perhaps a city tax also. He pays taxes on his gasoline and tolls on many of the roads he drives over. He has to pay for parking either in fees for curb meters and off-street lots—or for a ticket for over-parking.

The American Automobile Association points out that the motorist often has to pay a royalty on the gasoline he buys on toll roads. State-leased stations on these roads charge from two to three and a half cents more per gallon than do stations along public highways. The AAA suggests that the motorist could be spared this penalty if states stopped leasing service station sites on toll roads to oil companies on a monopolistic basis.

While the monopoly system can be explained as an effort by the states to obtain maximum revenues from their toll roads, by selling business concessions as well as from tolls, it imposes another penalty on the already over-burdened motorist. If driving were simply a luxury, such tax burdens might be justified. But it is no longer a luxury. Usually it is a necessity, and it is unfair to heap tax upon tax.

Happily, the AAA notes that some states are moving away from the monopolistic concession trend, and are encouraging competition among service stations on their toll roads. Certainly tax relief for the motorist should be encouraged.

SPEND AND SAVE

Dr. Samuel Johnson, the famed 18th century philosopher wrote: "A man who spends and saves money is the happiest man because he has both enjoyments."

If you stop to think about it, Dr. Johnson's observation is truism that everybody can agree with. We're certain that the man who just hoards whatever money he makes and the man who spends everything he makes are not particularly happy individuals.

We believe that most Americans go along with Dr. Johnson's philosophy. Savings have never been as big as they are today and people are spending more than ever before for the things they need and want.

In regard to saving, United States Savings Bonds provide one of the ideal ways to put money aside for future use. Every time you buy a Bond you give yourself an added lift to that feeling of security that goes with wise saving.

You'll do yourself a big favor by buying Savings Bonds regularly on the pay roll savings plan where you work, or at your bank. You'll have cash reserves when you need them. You'll have the money for those extras that add so much to living. You'll have income in the future. And don't forget, every Savings Bond you buy helps your country while it earns money for you.

You're wise to follow Dr. Johnson's philosophy and wise to save with Savings Bonds.

It is a little risky putting off something for a rainy day—especially when there are frequent sunny days in between.

OUR VITAL SPOT

Just one hydrogen bomb, we are told with only too much probability, can wipe out New York City. Likelier targets, perhaps, are Detroit as an automotive center, Pittsburgh for its steel, and, still more probable, Washington.

For a long time New York was our most important city. Somewhere about World War I that distinction passed to Washington. New York still has the largest financial accumulations, but the last word as to policy comes from Washington. A bomb that wiped out the White House, the cabinet, Congress and the Pentagon would just about halt the federal government. Eventually the nation would find successors, but by that time the task of gaining victory would be immeasurably harder.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE QUESTION OF ESPIONAGE

When the Bolsheviks took over in Russia in 1917, they found an institution known as the Okhrana, a hated secret police which penetrated into every nook and corner of Russian life. The Bolsheviks pretended to abolish this agency of investigation and espionage, but actually they did nothing but change its name to Cheka. Since then it has been called the OGPU, the NKVD, and now the MVD. Nothing really changes but the name.

Top men in this force are highly trained in special schools dedicated to special tasks. Those designated for foreign service are not only taught foreign languages, but foreign habits, such as styles of eating, fashions in clothes, little nationalistic traits of character. Personalities are made over to fit particular jobs.

The MVD, in its external operations, employed many men and women who are not Russians. Some of these were trained in one or more of their schools in Moscow; others were natives of the countries who were never trained but who were selected for particular positions.

Stalin, who never trusted his shadow, maintained a competing organization, the Fourth Section of the Red Army, which was also engaged in espionage operations in foreign countries. These two organizations were kept strictly separated; they never cooperated on enterprises and they rarely discovered each other's operatives. Everybody in each organization employed different cover names. Stalin could check one against the other, often discovering defections in one through the reports of the other. Juliet Poyntz, who was kidnapped or murdered in New York, is believed to have belonged to the Fourth Section of the Red Army.

Every member of the Communist Party in any part of the world is potentially an agent of one of these organizations. The Communist Party is different from, let us say, the Republican and Democratic Parties because it is a disciplined organization, each member being expected to spend the whole of his days at the service of the party and under its strict orders. It is because of this rigid discipline, often voluntary, often the product of fear of death, that so few persons can accomplish so much. The Control Commission of the Party, in each country and centralized in the Kremlin, maintains a discipline over the members. Many leave the party to become workers for the MVD or the Fourth Section of the Red Army.

When they are ordered to become espionage agents, they go, as the phrase is, underground. They take on a new coloration. They sometimes are ordered to take on a most respectable cover, such as a business or professional life, to avoid any relationship with members of the Communist Party. Anti-Communist workers have grown wary of this phase of Soviet operations and usually search diligently into the past of ex-Communists for the truth.

In some 300 instances of contact of one type or another with ex-Communists, I believe that I only know of one backslider, but I keep my fingers crossed.

I want to make it clear that I have no doubt whatsoever about persons like Benjamin Gitlow, Jay Lovestone, Louis Budenz, Elizabeth Bentley, Paul Crouch. I mention these names because a widespread campaign is evident to smear these particular persons. The object of this campaign is to destroy their usefulness. It is an old trick—as old as the original Okhrana—for the Russian espionage organizations to denounce those who have betrayed them by publicly giving the impression that they still belong to their organizations. It casts a doubt upon those who are fighting them.

In the most modern development of these operations, many persons who work for them do not know that they are operatives for a particular espionage organization. I have tried to discover in the available material whether Julius Rosenberg, for instance, was a conscious and trained operative or a casual pulled out of Communist Party membership. As far-fetched as this may appear to particular persons, it is so that they are casuals, who are idealistic or disgruntled or in love with an operation. They drop such persons when they have performed particular tasks. Sometimes such persons are killed.

I first encountered the Okhrana in Sweden in 1917 on my way to Russia. I have been studying its numerous manifestations since then. This short summary is based on this prolonged experience in Russia, Siberia, China, Japan and the United States. (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

PARTIAL LOSS OF HAIR—BALD PATCHES

When an individual begins to lose his hair while he is still young he is naturally greatly upset and tries various remedies to promote a new growth of hair. Loss of hair prematurely causes the individual to look older than his real age and, in the great majority of cases, causes an inferiority complex.

I have written before about the Chicago physician who had apparently been successful in growing hair on those who had lost their hair or some of their hair at an early age. His illustrations showing the new growth of hair were so convincing that he had no difficulty in getting backers to aid him in further efforts to grow hair. Unfortunately, despite his intensive investigations, his results were so disappointing that he finally gave up and published his failure in the Journal of The American Medical Association.

Since that time, despite the numerous efforts to grow hair, little or nothing has been accomplished.

When the hair falls out and leaves bald patches, it is called alopecia areata, a number of such cases occurring in young individuals—much to their embarrassment, of course.

In Postgraduate Medicine, Dr. Norman Tobias reports a series of 123 cases of alopecia areata which were studied from the standpoints of age, sex, and the relapse rate. He also reports the results of the treatment given in these cases. Dr. Tobias states that an increasing frequency of alopecia areata has prompted this study in order to ascertain the predisposing factors, the response to treatment, and the number or percentage of cases that recurred.

The disease is a patchy alopecia of unknown origin which appears suddenly, produces various degrees of embarrassment (inferiority complex) and follows a capricious course.

In a close study of 123 cases of which 73 were followed, several interesting facts were obtained regarding clinical characteristics, predisposing factors, course and response to treatment. The usual reason the patient consults the physician is fear of total loss of hair and embarrassment because it can be observed by everybody. His first question is "How long will it take for my hair to grow back?"

Both sexes are equally affected.

Dr. Tobias further reports that fifteen patients complained of certain symptoms before the hair loss occurred—headache, neuralgic pain and itching. In 36 of these cases emotional disturbances were present—pending divorce suits, school examinations and other factors.

Only three patients had definite focal infections—infected teeth, tonsils, gums.

Of the 73 cases followed, 26 had relapses. The relapses were more numerous in nervous individuals.

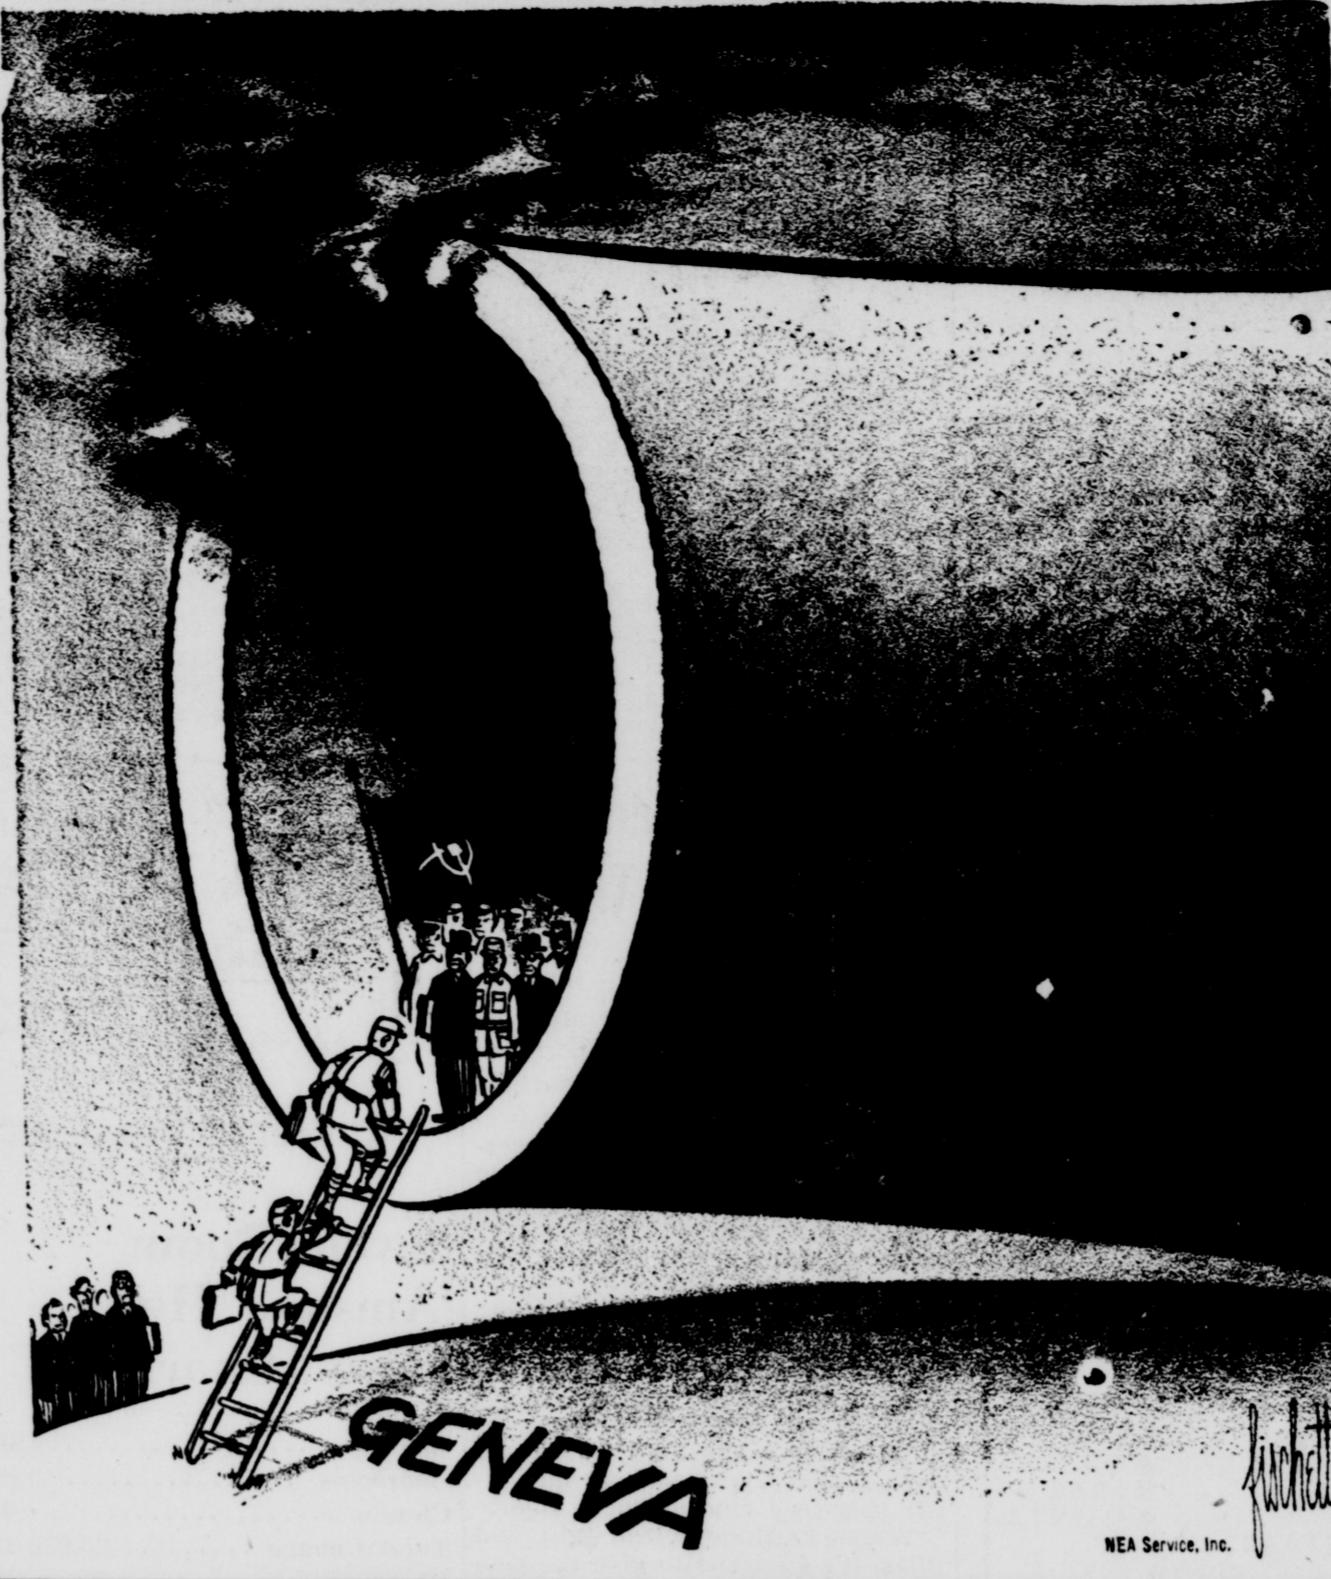

As to treatment, physicians are not agreed. In fact, some are opposed to any treatment as (1) the hair usually grows back in a matter of months and (2) treatment may prolong the symptoms.

The Red Delegations Arrive

THE MARQUEE

T.V.—STAGE—RADIO—RECORDS—PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

JANE RUSSELL's deep religious convictions are well known. But perhaps you'd be interested in this story, illustrating how great her faith is. She and Bob Thiele, Mercury Records chief, were visiting New York disc jockeys to promote "Do, Lord," the record Jane and three other girls made. One New York station had refused to play it on disc jockey shows, classifying it as a non-pop disc. When Thiele and Miss Russell came in, the station manager said, "Well, since you came all this way, we'll play it just this once."

"You see," said Jane, fervently, "it's the Lord's work."

Bill Cullen got a fan letter that read: "I personally enjoy you as much as my husband."

Ralph Bellamy sees a new era a-dawning. And, the way he paints it, it should be a dandy one.

"Round-the-world television is the key," he says. "It's only a few years off. They tell me it's technically possible today."

He leaned forward, his eyes full of visionary excitement.

"Think what this would mean. People would learn all about each other. It would lead to economic security, world peace and even a common language. You and I won't live to see the common language, but we'll see the rest in our time. It's got to happen. Nothing can stand in its way."

Ralph, who is currently starring in TV's long-lasting "Man Against Crime," is also president of the actors' union, Actors' Equity. The extra job keeps him up on the latest advances in TV. It also forces him to arise daily at 5 a. m., which shouldn't happen to an actor. A few hours of Equity work each day, and then Ralph heads north to the Bronx, where his TV series is filmed.

Another advance Bellamy sees coming is closed-circuit TV to theaters around the country. Broadway shows will be televised to each theatre and the shows' producers and authors and actors would all get a slice of the admission fees.

This isn't as far in the future as round-the-world TV. There's a show set for closed-circuiting next fall—the annual ANTA Album, a group of bits and pieces of plays annually put on by the American Theatre and Academy, is definitely scheduled for showing in that fashion.

This, too, has Bellamy excited. He got that visionary look again.

"It won't be long before all first nights will be televised. The audience will be practically guaranteed. Even flops will be financially successful. It will take the risk out of the theatre."

Angels will kindly form in line to the right.

Emily Kimbrough, author of "Forty Plus and Fancy Free" among other things, is now doing a 25-minute daily broadcast on CBS-Radio. She was horrified to learn what her stint is called, in technical radio terms.

"It seems," she said, smiling mischievously, "that I'm doing a 25-minute strip across the board. I wonder what my father would say to that."

How does a concert pianist pick the piano he uses in a concert? Let's watch Wilhelm Backhaus, who gave his first concert in the U. S. in more than 28 years. There were 20 grand pianos lined up waiting for him at the Baldwin works the day before the event. Backhaus played a few notes on each, walking down the line with the Baldwin superintendent, Candido Cacheiro.

They quickly narrowed the field to five. Backhaus played passages from his repertoire on each of these. Several times he forgot himself and kept on playing. He was checking three cardinal points—tone quality, key action and the ability of the piano to make the music sing. Concert grands, completely hand-made, all have their individualities.

After much debate, Backhaus finally announced, "This piano is perfect—it has a soul!"

And a soul, in a piano as well as in a person, is a rare thing indeed.

Ulster Increases Bond Purchases

Ulster county sales of Series E and H U. S. Savings Bonds for the first quarter of 1954 amounted to $288,900, an increase of $40,100 over sales for the corresponding three months a year ago. William F. Edelmut, chairman of the county Savings Bonds Committee, reported today.

New York state sales of E and H Bonds for the first quarter of 1954 totaled $136,335,200, a gain of $6,829,700 over sales for the corresponding quarter a year ago. "As regular buyers of U. S. Savings Bonds," Edelmut said, "Ulster county residents have a deep reservoir of future financial security. At the same time they are helping to build a stronger America."

Discuss Tax Means

New York, April 24 (P)—A three-hour cabinet meeting at city hall ended last night with a spokesman saying the proposed extension of the three per cent city sales tax to numerous commercial services and "possible alternatives" were discussed. No formal statement was issued after the conference on the city's tax raising problems. Earlier in the day, Mayor Robert F. Wagner said the board of estimate had not reached agreement on the best way to raise extra revenue. The mayor told newsmen that at a closed session on Thursday the board of estimate explored possible revenue sources apart from extension of the sales tax. Asked about the possibility of a pay roll tax, the mayor said that was out.

May 20, 1954—The Albany session is one of five to be held next month. Miss Mary Donlon, chairman of the N. Y. State Workmen's Compensation Board, announced today. The others will be at Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and Binghamton. The Albany conference will start at 9:30 a. m. May 14 in Chancellors Hall, State Education Building, Albany.

The meetings are aimed at acquainting employer associations, labor unions, medical societies, bar associations, public officials and other interested groups and persons with new procedures and rules developed by the board for hearing and determining claims and for payment of compensation.

EASING THE LOAD

The American motorist qualifies for the title of most frequently taxed person in the world. He pays federal excise taxes when he buys a car, pays annual registration and license fees to the state, perhaps a city tax also. He pays taxes on his gasoline and tolls on many of the roads he drives over. He has to pay for parking either in fees for curb meters and off-street lots—or for a ticket for over-parking.

The American Automobile Association points out that the motorist often has to pay a royalty on the gasoline he buys on toll roads. State-leased stations on these roads charge from two to three and a half cents more per gallon than do stations along public highways. The AAA suggests that the motorist could be spared this penalty if states stopped leasing service station sites on toll roads to oil companies on a monopolistic basis.

While the monopoly system can be explained as an effort by the states to obtain maximum revenues from their toll roads, by selling business concessions as well as from tolls, it imposes another penalty on the already over-burdened motorist. If driving were simply a luxury, such tax burdens might be justified. But it is no longer a luxury. Usually it is a necessity, and it is unfair to heap tax upon tax.

Happily, the AAA notes that some states are moving away from the monopolistic concession trend, and are encouraging competition among service stations on their toll roads. Certainly tax relief for the motorist should be encouraged.

SPEND AND SAVE

Dr. Samuel Johnson, the famed 18th century philosopher wrote: "A man who spends and saves money is the happiest man because he has both enjoyments."

If you stop to think about it, Dr. Johnson's observation is a truism that everybody can agree with. We're certain that the man who just hoards whatever money he makes and the man who spends everything he makes are not particularly happy individuals.

We believe that most Americans go along with Dr. Johnson's philosophy. Savings have never been as big as they are today and people are spending more than ever before for the things they need and want.

In regard to saving, United States Savings Bonds provide one of the ideal ways to put money aside for future use. Every time you buy a Bond you give yourself an added lift to that feeling of security that goes with wise saving.

You'll do yourself a big favor by buying Savings Bonds regularly on the pay roll savings plan where you work, or at your bank. You'll have cash reserves when you need them. You'll have the money for those extras that add so much to living. You'll have income in the future. And don't forget, every Savings Bond you buy helps your country while it earns money for you.

You're wise to follow Dr. Johnson's philosophy and wise to save with Savings Bonds.

It is a little risky putting off something for a rainy day—especially when there are frequent sunny days in between.

OUR VITAL SPOT

Just one hydrogen bomb, we are told with only too much probability, can wipe out New York City. Likelier targets, perhaps, are Detroit as an automotive center, Pittsburgh for its steel, and, still more probable, Washington.

For a long time New York was our most important city. Somewhere about World War I that distinction passed to Washington. New York still has the largest financial accumulations, but the last word as to policy comes from Washington. A bomb that wiped out the White House, the cabinet, Congress and the Pentagon would just about halt the federal government. Eventually the nation would find successors, but by that time the task of gaining victory would be immeasurably harder.

THE QUESTION OF ESPIONAGE

When the Bolsheviks took over in Russia in 1917, they found an institution known as the Okhrana, a hated, feared secret police which penetrated into every nook and corner of Russian life. The Bolsheviks pretended to abolish this agency of investigation and espionage, but actually they did nothing but change its name to Cheka. Since then it has been called the OGPU, the NKVD, and now the MVD. Nothing really changes but the name.

Top men in this force are highly trained in special schools dedicated to special tasks. Those designated for foreign service are not only taught foreign languages, but foreign habits, such as styles of eating, fashions in clothes, little nationalistic traits of character. Personalities are made over to fit particular jobs.

The MVD, in its external operations, employed many men and women who are not Russians. Some of these were trained in one or more of their schools in Moscow; others were natives of the countries who were never trained but who were selected for particular positions.

Stalin, who never trusted his shadow, maintained a competing organization, the Fourth Section of the Red Army, which was also engaged in espionage operations in foreign countries. These two organizations were kept strictly separated; they never cooperated on enterprises and they rarely discovered each other's operatives. Everybody in each organization employed different cover names. Stalin could check one against the other, often discovering defections in one through the reports of the other. Juliet Poyntz, who was kidnapped or murdered in New York, is believed to have belonged to the Fourth Section of the Red Army.

Every member of the Communist Party in any part of the world is potentially an agent of one of these organizations. The Communist Party is different from, let us say, the Republican and Democratic Parties because it is a disciplined organization, each member being expected to spend the whole of his time at the service of the party and under its strict orders. It is because of this rigid discipline, often voluntary, often the product of fear of death, that so few persons can accomplish so much. The Control Commission of the Party, in each country and centralized in the Kremlin, maintains a discipline over the members. Many leave the party to become workers for the MVD or the Fourth Section of the Red Army.

When they are ordered to become espionage agents, they go, as the phrase is, underground. They take on a new coloration. They sometimes are ordered to take on a most respectable cover, such as a business or professional life, to avoid any relationship with members of the Communist Party. Anti-Communist workers have grown wary of this phase of Soviet operations and usually search diligently into the past of ex-Communists for the truth.

In some 300 instances of contact of one type or another with ex-Communists, I believe that I know of one backslider, but I keep my fingers crossed.

I want to make it clear that I have no doubt whatsoever about persons like Benjamin Gitlow, Jay Lovestone, Louis Budenz, Elizabeth Bentley, Paul Crouch. I mention these names because a widespread campaign is evident to smear these particular persons. The object of this campaign is to destroy their usefulness. It is an old trick—as old as the original Okhrana—for the Russian espionage organizations to denounce those who have betrayed them by publicly giving the impression that they still belong to their organizations. It casts a doubt upon those who are fighting them.

In the most modern development of these operations, many persons who work for them do not know that they are operatives for a particular espionage organization. I have tried to discover in the available material whether Julius Rosenberg, for instance, was a conscious and trained operative or a casual pulled out of Communist Party membership. As far-fetched as this may appear to Americans, it is so that they are casuals. Who are idealistic or disgruntled or in love with an operation? They drop such persons when they have performed particular tasks. Sometimes such persons are killed.

I first encountered the Okhrana in Sweden in 1917 on my way to Russia. I have been studying its numerous manifestations since then. This short summary is based on this prolonged experience in Russia, Siberia, China, Japan and the United States. (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

PARTIAL LOSS OF HAIR—BALD PATCHES

When an individual begins to lose his hair while he is still young he is naturally greatly upset and tries various remedies to promote a new growth of hair. Loss of hair prematurely causes the individual to look older than his real age and, in the great majority of cases, causes an inferiority complex.

I have written before about the Chicago physician who had apparently been successful in growing hair on those who had lost their hair or some of their hair at an early age. His illustrations showing the new growth of hair were so convincing that he had no difficulty in getting backers to aid him in further efforts to grow hair. Unfortunately, despite his intensive investigations, his results were so disappointing that he finally gave up and published his failure in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Since that time, despite the numerous efforts to grow hair, little or nothing has been accomplished.

When the hair falls out and leaves bald patches, it is called alopecia areata, a number of such cases occurring in young individuals—much to their embarrassment, of course.

In Postgraduate Medicine, Dr. Norman Tobias reports a series of 123 cases of alopecia areata which were studied from the standpoints of age, sex, and the relapse rate. He also reports the results of the treatment given in these cases. Dr. Tobias states that an increasing frequency of alopecia areata has prompted this study in order to ascertain the predisposing factors, the response to treatment, and the number or percentage of cases that recurred.

"The disease is a patchy alopecia of unknown origin which appears suddenly, produces various degrees of embarrassment (inferiority complex) and follows a capricious course."

In a close study of 123 cases of which 73 were followed, several interesting facts were obtained regarding clinical characteristics, predisposing factors, course and response to treatment. The usual reason the patient consults the physician is fear of total loss of hair and embarrassment because it can be observed by everybody. His first question is "How long will it take for my hair to grow back?"

Both sexes are equally affected.

Dr. Tobias further reports that fifteen patients complained of certain symptoms before the hair loss occurred—headache, neuralgic pain and itching. In 36 of these cases emotional disturbances were present—pending divorce suits, school examinations and others.

Only three patients had definite focal infections—infected teeth, tonsils, gums.

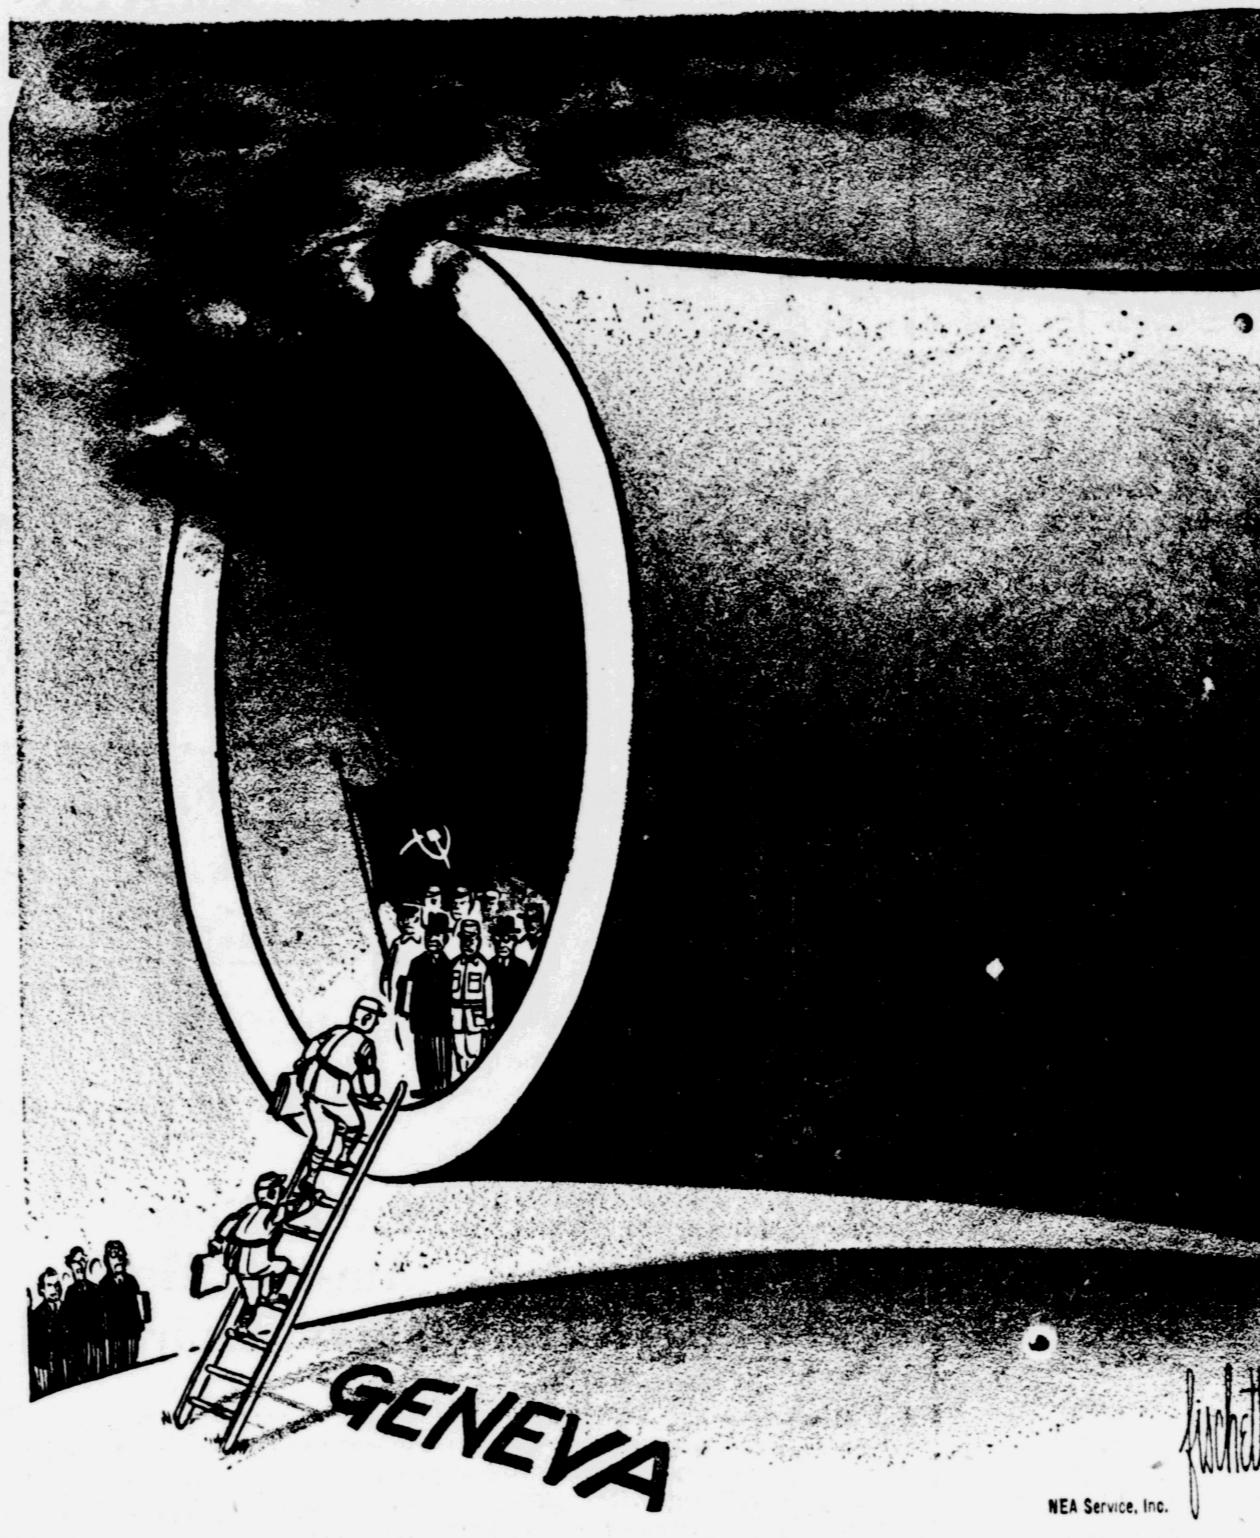

Of the 73 cases followed, 26 had relapses. The relapses were more numerous in nervous individuals.

As to treatment, physicians are not agreed. In fact, some are opposed to any treatment as (1) the hair usually grows back in a matter of months and (2) treatment may prolong the symptoms.

T.V.—STAGE—RADIO—RECORDS—PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

JANE RUSSELL's deep religious convictions are well known. But perhaps you'd be interested in this story, illustrating how great her faith is. She and Bob Thiele, Coral Records chief, were visiting New York disc jockeys to promote "Do, Lord," the record Jane and three other girls made. One New York station had refused to play it on disc jockey shows, classifying it as a non-pop disc. When Thiele and Miss Russell came in, the station manager said, "Well, since you came all this way, we'll play it just this once."

"You see," said Jane, fervently, "it's the Lord's work."

Bill Cullen got a fan letter that read: "I personally enjoy you as much as my husband."

Ralph Bellamy sees a new era a-dawning. And, the way he paints it, it should be a dandy one.

"Round-the-world television is the key," he says. "It's only a few years off. They tell me it's technically possible today."

He leaned forward, his eyes full of visionary excitement. "Think what this would mean. People would learn all about each other. It would lead to economic security, world peace and even a common language. You and I won't live to see the common language, but we'll see the rest in our time. It's got to happen. Nothing can stand in its way."

Raph, who is currently starring in TV's long-lasting "Man Against Crime," is also president of the actors' union, Actors' Equity. The extra job keeps him up on the latest advances in TV. It also forces him to arise daily at 5 a. m., which shouldn't happen to an actor. A few hours of Equity work each day, and then Ralph heads north to the Bronx, where his TV series is filmed.

Another advance Bellamy sees coming is closed-circuit TV to theatres around the country. Broadway shows will be televised to each theatre and the shows' producers and authors and actors would all get a slice of the admission fees.

This isn't as far in the future as round-the-world TV. There's a show set for closed-circuiting next fall—the annual ANTA Album, a group of bits and pieces of plays annually put on by the American Theatre and Academy, is definitely scheduled for showing in that fashion.

This, too, has Bellamy excited. He got that visionary look again.

"It won't be long before all first nights will be televised. The audience will be practically guaranteed. Even flops will be financially successful. It will take the risk out of the theatre."

Angels will kindly form in line to the right.

Emily Kimbrough, author of "Forty Plus and Fancy Free" among other things, is now doing a 25-minute daily broadcast on CBS-Radio. She was horrified to learn what her stint is called, in technical radio terms.

"It seems," she said, smiling mischievously, "that I'm doing a 25-minute strip across the board. I wonder what my father would say to that."

How does a concert pianist pick the piano he uses in a concert? Let's watch Wilhelm Backhaus, who gave his first concert in the U. S. in more than 28 years. There were 20 grand pianos lined up waiting for him at the Baldwin works the day before the event. Backhaus played a few notes on each, walking down the line with the Baldwin superintendent, Candido Cacheiro.

They quickly narrowed the field to five. Backhaus played passages from his repertoire on each of these. Several times he forgot himself and kept on playing. He was checking three cardinal points—tone quality, key action and the ability of the piano to make the music "sing." Concert grands, completely hand-made, all have their individualities.

After much debate, Backhaus finally announced, "This piano is perfect—it has a soul!"

And a soul, in a piano as well as in a person, is a rare thing indeed.

New Compensation Procedures Up for Discussion May 14*Ulster Increases Bond Purchases

Ulster county sales of Series E and H U. S. Savings Bonds for the first quarter of 1954 amounted to $288,900, an increase of $40,100 over sales for the corresponding three months a year ago, William F. Edelmut, chairman of the county Savings Bonds Committee, reported today.

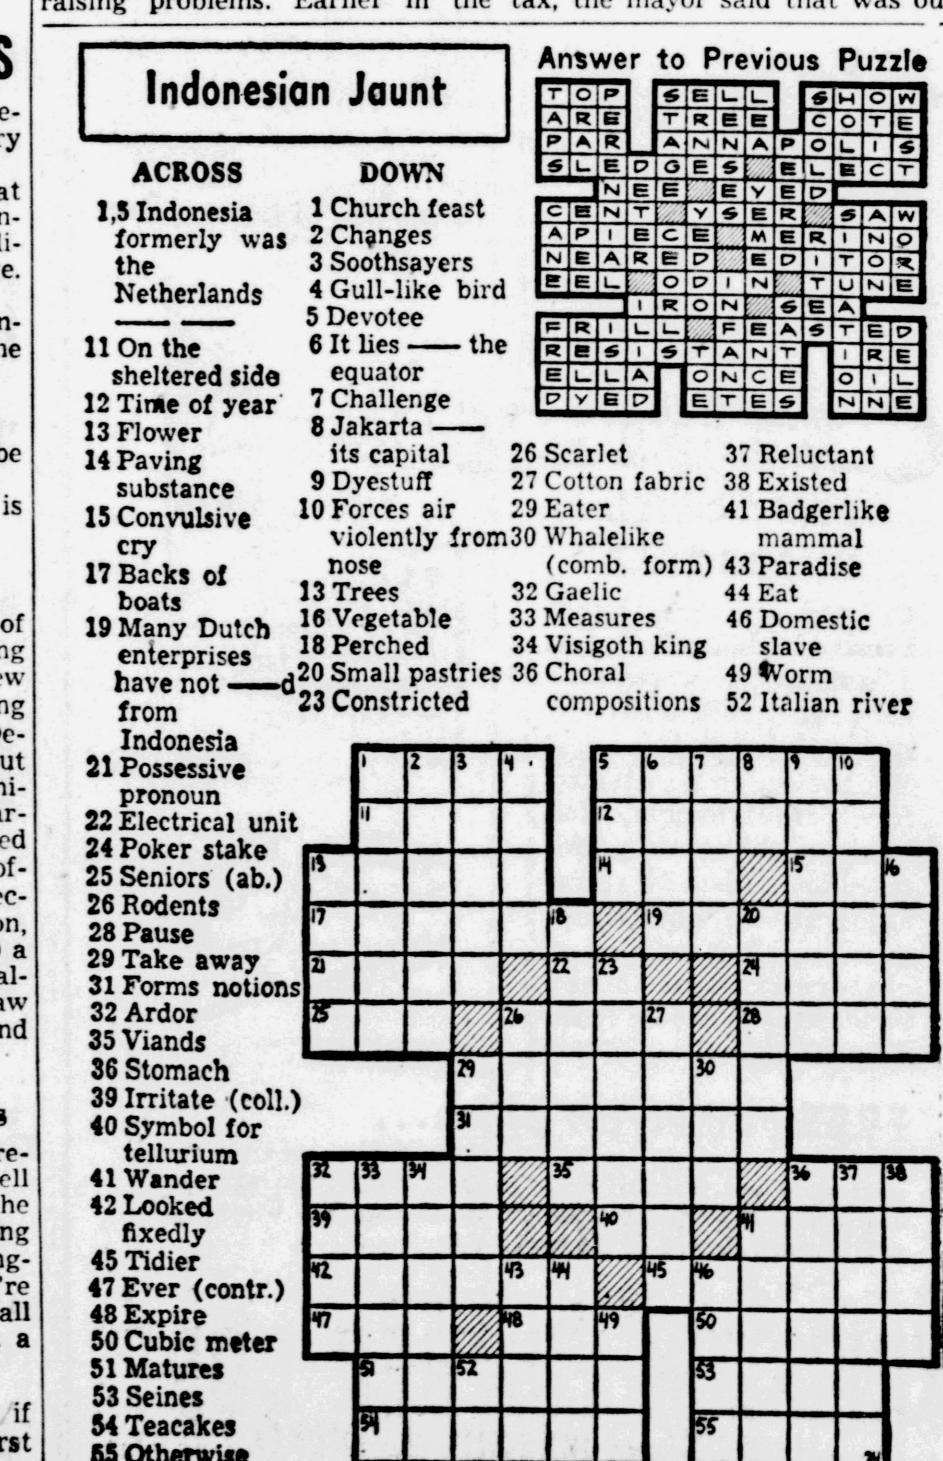

New York state sales of E and H Bonds for the first quarter of 1954 totaled $136,335,200, a gain of $6,829,700 over sales for the corresponding quarter a year ago. "Regular" buyers of U. S. Savings Bonds," Edelmut said, "Ulster county residents have a deep reservoir of future financial security. At the same time they are helping to build a stronger America."

Ancient Art of Weaving Brought Up to Date

Metallic Threads Combined With Linen For Woven Pieces

By MARIANNE DAVIS
Freeman Society Editor

The ancient art of weaving that was practiced by the Incas in Peru and our own American Indians, is now producing gold and silver tablecloths to grace the formal dinners in many American homes. Mrs. Victor Bitterman of West Shokan, who is known professionally as Angela Von Den Driesch, is one person responsible for bringing this art out of the museum and into the field of business.

In her studio are several four-harness looms, and one which is the width of the room, to be worked by two persons simultaneously producing a banquet size tablecloth. At work on a cocktail napkin set when the Freeman photographer and society editor called, was Miss Lydia Scott of Shokan.

"I'm using linen and gold metallic thread for these napkins," she explained, "and the patterns are made by stepping on the different treadles" and she demonstrated the coordinated hand and foot movements.

"Would you like to try it?" suggested Mrs. Bitterman. "I could explain and explain but you must get the feeling of sitting down and actually weaving."

In spare time, she and her husband raise St. Bernard puppies, which were barking loudly and running about the kennel next to the remodeled farmhouse of the Bittermans, at the time of the visit by Freeman representatives.

But Angela's main interest and enthusiasm is in the art of weaving, which is far more than a business, more a way of life. Why does she specialize in tablecloths? Her philosophic answer, "I believe a well set table is the high point of civilization."

And notice is also given that a copy of the statement of the amount of money required for the education of the children of the district not later than April 22, 1954.

Fraternal League Adds Two Teams, Plans Workouts Monday

Kiwanis Club,
And Vols Are
New Entries

League Will Operate
With Seven Franchises

Fraternal Youth League, now a seven-team circuit, will have registration for all 13-year-olds Mondays at 6:15 p. m. at Hasbrouck Park.

Two new teams—one sponsored by the Kingston Volunteer fire companies—and the Kiwanis Club will join the league this year.

The five holdover teams are the Elks Club, Rotary, Kingston Patrolmen's Association, American Legion and the Veteran of Foreign Wars.

League president, Charles Higgins, has also announced the reappointment of Frank A. Reis as league secretary.

Tryout schedules for the boys in the 13-to-15 year bracket, all scheduled at Hasbrouck Park, follow:

13 Year Olds—Monday, April 26, and Wednesday, April 28.

14 and 15 Year Olds—Tuesday, April 27, and Thursday, April 29. All workouts are scheduled at 6:15 p. m. DST.

A league meeting will be held at the Elks Club following Monday's registration period and tryouts for the 13-year-olds.

Addition of the two new teams was hailed by president Higgins as another step toward an eventual setup of eight teams.

The league was highly successful in 1953 and the two new franchises are expected to add more excitement and class to the junior baseball group.

All boys in the eligible age brackets are invited to take part in the tryouts.

Critics of Little League baseball and other youth sports—and those people who just can't be bothered to take part in the supervision and promotion of youth activities—should have heard Father John Drew's speech before a group of old time baseball players this week at the Elks Club.

Specifically, it was a reception to the Maryknoll priest who spent seven years as a missionary in China and Formosa by the remnants of Dr. Francis E. O'Connor's Kernels and Bill Edelthum's Roaring Forties, now turned the Feeble Fifties.

The youthful Father Drew, whose missionary was closely guarded and harassed by the Communists since 1950, pointed up the terrible contrast between the small fry of America and those in Asiatic lands dominated by the Commies.

It was a pertinent subject because from the hilarious baseball (?) games between the teams managed by Dr. O'Connor and Edelthum emerged the first Kingston Athletic Association. Which in turn was dissolved to form the present Little League Association.

Father Drew's remarks were off the cuff and off the record, directed at some of the old cronies who combined to make travesty of baseball when the Kernels met Roaring Forties. It was a dynamic speech filled with first hand information of how the Communists first infiltrate, take over a country and then indoctrinate and propagandize their victims.

"It is to the everlasting credit of the American way of life, that we can gather here tonight and reminisce about a happy period in our lives," Father Drew said.

He went on to commend the old time ball players for their interest in sports activities and warned them never to relax their interest and concern to build youth with strong bodies and clear minds.

"Youth activities and sports as we know them," just don't exist in China and other Asiatic countries," said Father Drew. "Instead of teaching kids how to play sports, they overpower them with Communistic propaganda. The theme is always the same . . . world domination by the complete elimination and capitulation of the American capitalists.

"By the time those children are seven or eight years old their minds have already become grooved in a vicious anti-American, anti-Soviet, anti-everything spirit of hate.

"The masters of the Kremlin do a terrible job with those youngsters," he went on. "Instead of talking about subjects that are a common denominator for American kids, the Asiatic youngsters have learned to parrot the Kremlin line with professional sureness."

"Instead of quoting Ted Williams or Joe DiMaggio's batting averages or having a favorite team like the Yankees, Giants or Dodgers, they have only consuming passion, one relentless hate—hate America and everything not Communistic."

"Everything will be alright when the American capitalists are eliminated . . . there can be no peace in the world until all capitalists are eliminated . . . Those words spoken in a matter of fact tone by a seven or eight-year old boy gives you something to think about," Father Drew adds.

"You men have dedicated yourself to a commendable project," Father Drew said in praise of men like Tommy Davitt, Dr. O'Connor and others who have given time, energy and money to the propagation of youth sports.

"Never relax your work," the priest cautioned. "It will pay handsomely dividends in the future and I can think of no finer or more rewarding work than teaching young folks the tenets of Americanism and the things our way of life stand for. Little League, CYO, Kiwanis Federation and all the other sports movements are doing a wonderful job. You and the city of Kingston should be proud of your local record in that field," he concluded.

Merchant Nine Drills Sunday

Both rules are entirely new. The shooting time limit will be in effect regardless where a team gains possession of the ball. Failure to shoot will mean loss of the ball.

The personal foul rule carries a penalty clause of two shots for every foul over six. The penalty actually will apply only on what previously were one shot fouls. An old two shot foul still remains two shots. In any overtime period of five minutes each team will be allowed three personal fouls.

The directors re-elected president Maurice Podoloff for a term of three years.

Directors passed a rule forcing a team to shoot within 24 seconds after gaining possession of the ball. And to end fouling they approved a rule limiting a team to six personal fouls per quarter.

Jackie Jensen in Quick Start but Jury Is Still Out on New Home Run Power

ously outside of Fenway Park by trying to hit as if they were at home.

Jensen insists he hasn't altered his stance to get cozy with The Wall.

"I'm swinging the same as I did last year. I only hit one homer in Boston last year and I haven't done anything at all to try for the wall exclusively," he says.

Boudreau concurs. "Naturally, a guy is going to be thinking of putting one out there, particularly if he's a right-hander," the Bosox boss points out.

"But nothing has cropped up in Jensen's swing so far that shows he's thinking too much about it. You've got to give that some time. If something does crop up—if, as you ask, he winds up plus crazy—then we'll put in some corrective measures. There are a lot of parks in this league.

While Jensen's early season work has been a bright spot for the Red Sox, it's strictly in the nature of a bonus. His big value—and the jury hasn't even arrived to debate this one—should come somewhere around May 15.

That's when Mr. T. or the Splendid Splinter or whatever you, otherwise Ted Williams, puts his big frame in the lineup and Boudreau inserts Jensen behind him in the batting order.

That will give Jackie all the chances he needs to refute claims that he leaves too many guys on base.

NBA Adopts 24-Second Rule, Rigid Penalty on Fouling

New York, April 24 (AP)—The National Basketball Association cleared the way for its annual draft of college players today by eliminating its complicated play-off system and adopting two new rules designed to end stalling and reduce fouling.

The new play-off system, replacing the complicated round robin after it used this year, calls for the first three teams in each division to qualify for the play-offs. The winner of each division will draw a first round by while the second and third place teams meet in a best of three series.

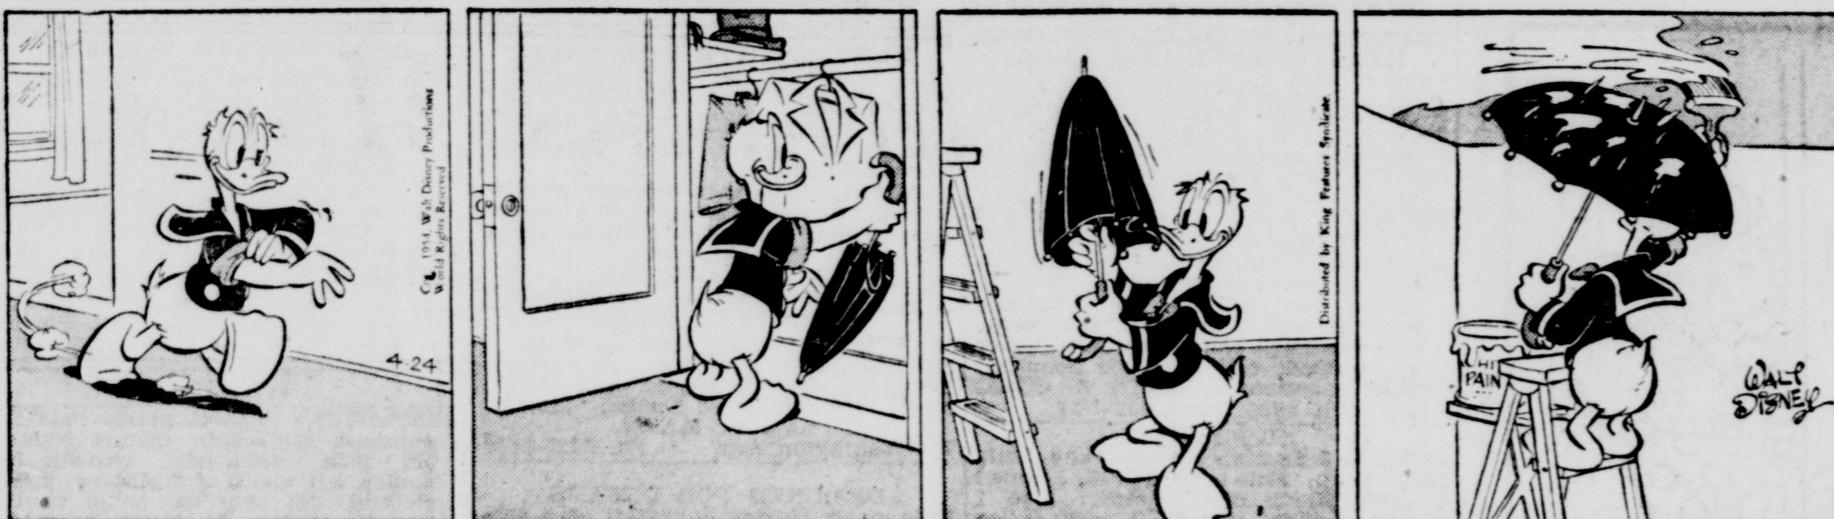

The first round winners then clash with the division champions in a best of five series with the victors going into the finals in a best of seven series.

The directors passed a rule forcing a team to shoot within 24 seconds after gaining possession of the ball. And to end stalling they approved a rule limiting a team to six personal fouls per quarter.

Both rules are entirely new. The shooting time limit will be in effect regardless where a team gains possession of the ball. Failure to shoot will mean loss of the ball.

The personal foul rule carries a penalty clause of two shots for every foul over six. The penalty will apply only on what previously were one shot fouls. An old two shot foul still remains two shots

The camp occupied by General Washington's army during the winter of 1777-78 received its name from Valley Forge Creek. The name of the creek arose from the fact that in 1742 a small ironworks, known as the Mt. Joy Forge, was built by Isaac Potts on the little stream that flows into the Schuylkill river about 19 miles northwest of Philadelphia. This foundry was known in the community as the valley forge.

Black Extends

Streak to 26

New York, April 24 (P)—The Army holds the key to the future of welterweight Jed Black, a pugnacious college grad from Michigan State.

Black graduated Dec. 16 and most of his class already has been called to ROTC duty. He still is waiting word.

New York saw Black for the first time last night as he won a split decision over Joey Klein, a hometown boy, in the 10-round televised feature at St. Nicholas Arena before an estimated 2,000.

Referee Harry Kessler scored 7-2-2, both for Black. Judge Charley Shortell voted 5-4-1 for Klein. The AP had it 6-4 for Black.

If Black isn't called to duty as a lieutenant in the reserves, manager Heck Knowles has a May 17 date for him in Detroit. Vince Martine, Carmine Fiore or Danny Giovannelli are possible opponents.

Black, 23, has a brilliant 27-1 record with an unbeaten streak of 26 fights.

Black Extends Streak to 26

New York, April 24 (P)—The Army holds the key to the future of welterweight Jed Black, a pugnacious college grad from Michigan State.

Black graduated Dec. 16 and most of his class already has been called to ROTC duty. He still is waiting word.

New York saw Black for the first time last night as he won a split decision over Joey Klein, a hometown boy, in the 10-round televised feature at St. Nicholas Arena before an estimated 2,000 paying $3,500.

Referee Harry Kessler scored 6-7-2 and Judge Harold Barnes 6-2, both for Black. Judge Charley Shortell voted 5-4-1 for Klein. The AP had it 6-4 for Black.

If Black isn't called to duty as a lieutenant in the reserves, manager Heck Knowles has a May 17 date for him in Detroit. Vince Martinez, Carmine Fiore or Danny Giovannelli are possible opponents.

Black, 23, has a brilliant 27-1 record with an unbeaten streak of 26 fights.

Largest Still Is Raided in Jersey

Sussex, N. J., April 24 (AP)—State police last night raided a farm near here and confiscated a huge still making 180-proof alcohol.

Aided by Sheriff James Skok, the troopers swept down on the farm owned by John Klecha, 37, in Wantage township.

In the barn, they found what they described as one of the largest stills ever seized in North Jersey.

On the premises, they said, were eight fermentation vats with a 5,000-gallon capacity each, plus a $5,000 gallon mixing vat and other equipment.

They said they found a total of 1,500 gallons of the alcohol, at an estimated sale price of $9,000.

Police estimated the still had a capacity of 2,000 gallons a day.

Klecha told police he did not know about the operation, saying he had leased his barn to an unnamed bleaching company from Dover six weeks ago.

He was held in Sussex county jail for investigation.

Congress, second session) approved June 5, 1930, the Bridge authority was permitted to charge tolls sufficiently high to provide for amortization of the cost of the bridge, as well as for maintenance and operation. But this permission lapsed in 20 years.

"Since the first communication with the engineers in this matter a few days ago, they called me to add that this Act was amended to change certain provisions dealing with congressional consent to the state in this matter.

"It is true that the New York State Bridge authority is attempting to get this 20-year period extended, in order to continue the high tolls, it seems to me that this would have to be done through another Congressional enactment," Senator Lehman wrote Mr. Balch, adding "and there is no indication that any bill has been introduced or even recommended for introduction."

Congress, second session) approved June 5, 1930, the Bridge authority was permitted to charge tolls sufficiently high to provide for amortization of the cost of the bridge, as well as for maintenance and operation. But this permission lapsed in 20 years.

No additions will be made to the schedule.
